

Classics Book Club

We all have that growing stack of books we mean to read – now's your chance to finally dive in! The Classics Book Club offers the perfect opportunity to revisit timeless works (or discover them for the first time) in a friendly and intellectually curious atmosphere.

The club is led by Dharanija Madhavan, a passionate reader originally from Chennai, India, who has called Heidelberg home since 2010. With a wide-ranging taste that spans fiction and non-fiction, romance and political theory – and, of course, the classics – Dharanija brings energy, insight, and a love of discussion to every meeting.

When she's not immersed in literature, Dharanija works as a scientific coordinator at a graduate school, drawing on her background as a molecular and cancer biologist – partly to fund her ever-growing personal library!

Contact: library@dai-heidelberg.de

Please register ahead of time.

Dates & books:

- | | |
|--------------|--|
| September 26 | The Brothers Karamazov by Fyodor Dostoevsky |
| October 24 | Lolita by Vladimir Nabokov |
| November 28 | Brighton Rock by Graham Greene |
| December 19 | A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens |

Every 4th Friday of the month, 6:30–8:00 p.m.

Language: English

The program is free of charge. If you would like to attend on a regular basis, please become a member of the DAI Library.

